

Hello everyone,

I'm Jennie from Viet Nam. Right now, I'm studying Master program of Intellectual Property Department in National Taipei University of Technology. It's been one year since I lived and studied at Taiwan. Let me tell you my story. Hope you can find it useful and interesting.

Considering a long time which department should I choose, I made up my mind to study Intellectual Property. In this technology generation, Intellectual Property gradually becomes an important key to each country, that's why if you want to catch up with the generation, you have to choose to develop yourself. NTUT (National Taipei University of Technology), one of the best university of Taiwan, is right the place I'm looking for.

Although I don't have law background, my Chinese is not good enough, I still complete my first year with full of unforgettable memories. It's all thanks to our friendly, kindly classmate. Whenever I had problems or met difficulties in following the lessons, there were always lovely classmates would be willing to help me, explained all the questions I had patiently. They also took me to visit Taipei famous place: night market, 101 building, Xiangshan mountain, Tamsui.... They let me experience and understand more about Taiwan cultural. It was plentiful of happy moments. I can taste Taiwan delicious dishes, saw traditional performances, visited beautiful places....

The atmosphere in NTUT is really what you're looking for a dreamy studying school. All the professors are friendly and enthusiastic. If you need their help or have any problems in lessons, don't be shy or hesitate, just come to see them, professors will explain everything in details for you. That's why even I don't have any knowledge in law field, I still could get over this first year. It's all thanks to our department professors, staff and classmates.

My first year in NTUT, in Taiwan is a precious time in my life. Learning, experiencing and living with full of happiness everyday. If you want have a time to remember, let's go to NTUT. You won't regret, trust me!

Jennie Phuong Pham

This is our classmates and professors in Intellectual Property Department, we were celebrating the succeed of holding international conference (10/2017)